Investment case

Switzerland has a long-standing record of macroeconomic, political and social stability as well as high ESG characteristics. This is reflected in the superior and sustainable value creation profile of its corporate sector, which includes global leaders in several areas such as niche industries and mission-critical technologies and products. Switzerland is home to some of the world's best-known luxury brands and high-quality companies in defensive sectors such as food and pharmaceuticals. The country's largest listed companies generate at least 60% of their sales abroad (significantly higher ex financials) and they have a particularly strong presence in emerging markets.

Swiss equities have outperformed global equities since 1998 (in CHF) and exhibited lower volatility than eurozone equities.

Fund concept

UBAM - Swiss Equity is a high-quality, actively-managed Swiss equity sub-fund that consists of the investment team's highest investment convictions. The investment team seeks to exploit the bottom-up and top-down opportunities in the Swiss market and combine its in-depth knowledge of the local environment with its understanding of global drivers to optimise stock selection. The Cash Flow Return on Investment (CFROI®) life cycle framework is at the base of the team's fundamental company valuation approach. The team seeks to identify three particular types of value-creative stocks: "growing" companies' stocks whose potential is underestimated by the market, companies generating consistently high CFROI®s able to 'beat the fade' in returns over time, and "turnaround" companies able to restructure in difficult times.

ESG criteria are integrated throughout the investment process which includes norms-based screening, proxy voting and engagement as well as a low carbon footprint objective.

The fund can have a limited allocation to non-Swiss stocks to compensate for the underweights in index heavyweights enforced by the Luxembourg legislation.

Investment process

- The bottom-up analysis involves detailed fundamental and quantitative research including ESG criteria, and regular company meetings. The team seeks to identify long-term return potential which is not yet reflected in valuations, by understanding the competitive advantages and management capabilities of each company.
- The top-down perspective gained from meeting with external and internal strategists and macroeconomists allows the team to position the portfolio according to market conditions.
- Portfolio construction is based on the team's assessment of company prospects, catalysts and risks, and contribution to tracking error.
- The portfolio aims for a low carbon footprint relative to its investment universe.
- Risk management takes into account portfolio beta, tracking error and stock intercorrelations.
- Portfolio tracking error is actively managed i.e. the team varies the amount of risk taken according to their view of the market environment and opportunity set.
