UBAM - EMERGING MARKET CORPORATE BOND

Access the return potential of emerging market corporate bonds that offer attractive yields and diversification.

UBAM - Emerging Market Corporate Bond provides investors with access to bonds denominated in hard currencies, issued by emerging market corporates, and offering attractive yields and return potential compared with their developed market (DM) peers with similar credit ratings, as well as lower interest-rate risk.

Key points

- ◆ Bond-selection based on an in-depth bottom-up approach to maximise returns from capital appreciation and coupon income
- ◆ Active, alpha-driven management style with a clear objective to outperform the benchmark
- ◆ Experienced team which has successfully managed EM corporate bond portfolios across different economic cycles
- ◆ Emphasis on credit research, diversification and portfolio liquidity

Investment case

The emerging market (EM) corporate bond market is a sizeable and well-diversified asset class, which gives investors access to private issuers located in the fastest-growing regions around the world. EM corporate bonds in hard currencies tend to have higher credit quality, lower duration and lower volatility than EM sovereign bonds, so they offer greater risk-adjusted return potential.

The asset class is enjoying continued inflows, as investors are attracted by the higher yields offered by EM corporate bonds compared to their DM peers with similar credit quality, as well as by their lower interest-rate risk.

EM corporate bonds have limited correlation with other asset classes and therefore provide an efficient means of portfolio diversification.

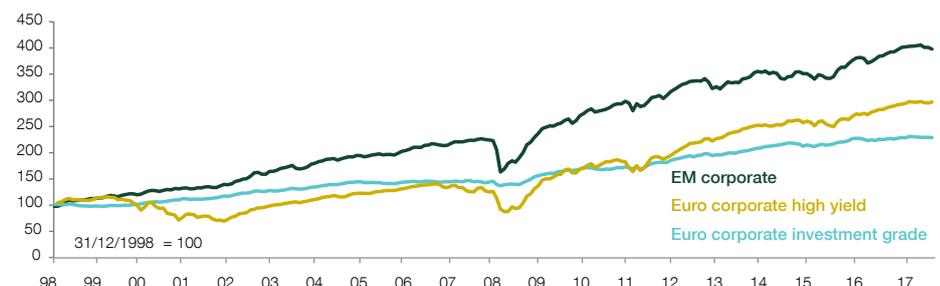

Fund concept

The fund invests mainly in hard-currency-denominated bonds issued by companies headquartered in emerging countries or whose activities are closely connected to those markets. It aims to outperform the JPMorgan CEMBI Diversified by maximising returns from capital appreciation and coupon income.

The active management style combines top-down allocation and bottom-up selection and aims to capture opportunities from across the entire EM corporate debt universe.

Subscriptions and redemptions are daily.

Investment process

- ◆ Global market volatility and macro trends are analysed to help determine the portfolio's optimal duration, curve positioning and overall defensiveness/aggressiveness (e.g. beta and credit allocation).
- ◆ Top-down country allocation based on proprietary country scoring, which helps set maximum allocation divergence above and below the benchmark for each country.
- ◆ Bottom-up issuer and issue selection based on thorough in-house credit analysis, relative value assessment, and liquidity filtering.
- ◆ Risk-management aims to maintain a high level of diversification and liquidity in the portfolio to ensure high and consistent risk-adjusted returns over the investment cycle.
